

10:00 PM Wednesday, February 03, 2010

WINTER WEATHER ALERT

Issued: Wednesday, February 3, 10pm

For the Wasatch Front and Wasatch Mountains:

Light snow showers and flurries overnight tonight will only add up to a dusting by morning.

Light snow continues through the Thursday morning commute, with little to no impact expected.

Canyon routes will see more snowfall than the valleys, but still with only minor accumulations and minimal driving impacts expected.